Company Profile

AGILENT, the world's premier measurement company, working in close collaboration with engineers, scientists, and researchers around the globe to meet the communications, electronics, life sciences, and chemical analysis challenges of today and tomorrow. The company operates three primary businesses—electronic, bio-analytical and chemical measurement—supported by Agilent Laboratories, its central research group. Agilent is committed to providing innovative measurement solutions that enable our customers and partners—the leaders in their fields—to deliver the products and services that make a measurable difference in the lives of people everywhere.
